Walsh Construction a division of The Walsh Group, is hosting this event to present potential bidding and subcontracting opportunities to local subcontractors and suppliers ~ specifically for the University Science Phase II project at Central Washington University, Ellensburg, WA. Project Description: Construction of a new five story, 120,000 SF Geology and Physics Classroom Building, Type IB Construction, as classified by the 2012 International Building Code and associated paving, site utilities, landscaping and other site improvements. This project is on the campus of Central Washington University in Ellensburg, WA. The project is targeting a Silver rating under the LEED for New Construction Systems.

If you are interested in learning about current and future subcontracting opportunities, please join us at this event. The Walsh Pacific bid team will be present and available to answer questions pertaining to the plans, specifications, and requirements of the contract. To learn more about The Walsh Group please visit our website at <http://www.walshgroup.com/>

If you are not able to attend our outreach event, but would like to receive information on this project, or notification of future opportunities, please complete and submit the attached Subcontractors Questionnaire to sbdevelopment@walshgroup.com
